Mr Lloyd Sullenberger brought to town last week a handsome percheron stallion. This horse has a good style and size, making the kind of draft horse every one admires. We are glad to see the people of Highland are taking more interest in horse-raising. Let our farmers get together and have a Farmers Alliance for the improvement of stock and crops.

On Sunday night last an unusually large congregation greeted Rev R L Eutsler at the Methodist church, it being the occasion of his last sermon at this place as pastor of the Monterey circuit. During his four years' service, Mr Eutsler has endeared himself, not only to the people of his own church, but to all classes, a fact that is more and more manifest during the closing weeks of his pastorate. Wherever he may go, he will be followed by the prayers and good wishes of his Highland brethren, and his life and example, no less than his faithful, earnest and unselfish ministry, will continue to be fruitful of good, even after he is gone to other fields of labor.

Mr I. L. Beverage, who is to reassess the lands of the county, began his work on Monday morning. The work before him is of great importance, the task not an easy one, and carries with it a responsibility which not only calls for good judgment and indiscriminate fairness and justice on the part of the assessor, but appeals to the honesty and fairness of the property owners as well. Mr Beverage informs us that it is his purpose, so far as possible at all, to personally confer with each property owner, and, with a mutual purpose of honesty, and the principle of right dominant, there ought not to be any serious difficulty in fixing valuations and correcting inequalities as changed conditions may demand.

We are informed that Mr B H Hiner, of Franklin, has been employed as the prisoner's counsel, and the preliminary hearing set for to-day—Thursday. Should he be "sent on," a special grand jury will probably be called for the April term.

Will Get Automobile

The utility of a mountain automobile is soon to be given a practical test in Highland, and the Recorder not only hopes that the test may determine the question favorably, but may lead to the permanent establishment of a summer line to the railroads east and west of us, and yield a good return to the promoters. Mr Isaac Bussard, of this place, is the prime mover in the enterprise, and, we are informed, is negotiating for the purchase of a machine which is especially recommended and designed for mountain travel.

Don't douse the enterprise with cold water, but get your tickets for Bartow.

The length of the line will be about 100 miles, and the route lies in the Valley of Cheat River from Rowlesburg to the forks of the river, at Parsons. Thence it will pass up Black Fork three miles to Hendricks, where it will intersect the Dry Fork Railroad. From Hendricks to Rowlesburg the line would meet the Morgantown and Kingwood Railroad, which is building to that place.—Baltimore American, March 6th.
